

Identify difference between following software licence type and provide to use cases per each in real world

- Commercial licence

Open source licence

Free ware licence

Shareware licence

Academic licence

1. Commercial licence

paid software with restricted usage. The source code is kept secret and users can not modify or redistribute it

- Microsoft office 365

- Businesses pay a subscription fee to use the tools but they not own the code

2. open source licence

The source code is available to every one. Users are encouraged to study change and distribute the software freely

- Linux operating system
- mozilla fire fox

3. Freeware licence

Software that is free to use but remains proprietary.

- Adobe Acrobat reader
- google chrome

4. Shareware licence provided for free on a trial basis. Users are expected to pay for full version or licence once the trial period expires

- WinRAR
- Adobe photoshop

S Academic licence

Discounted or specialized licence provided specifically for students, teachers and educational institutes

- AutoCAD student version

- MATLAB student version